PRESS RELEASE

AJJ Medtech and Autagco team up to jointly deploy and commercialise Humanoid Elderly Care Robots in Singapore

The cooperation leverages AJJ Medtech's expertise in humanoid robotics and Autagco's experience in assisted living to launch the multifunctional Humanoid Robot for elderly care.

SINGAPORE - 13 November 2025

AJJ Medtech Holdings Limited ("AJJ Medtech"), a SGX-listed integrated medical technology solutions provider, and Autagco Ltd. ("Autagco"), a SGX-listed assisted living service provider, are pleased to announce that both parties have entered into a legally binding Strategic Cooperation Memorandum of Understanding ("MOU") to jointly deploy and commercialise Humanoid Elderly Care Robots within Autagco's assisted living facilities in Singapore.

This strategic cooperation leverages AJJ Medtech's expertise in humanoid robotics, artificial intelligence and digital health solutions, as well as Autagco's operational expertise in assisted living, aiming to transform Autagco's assisted living facilities into AI-powered intelligent care environments, providing a model for scalable, high-quality eldercare services.

The collaboration will launch through a pilot project, starting with Autagco acquiring six (6) units of AJJ-HT-X1 Humanoid Elderly Care Robots for progressive deployment across its assisted living facilities. Clinical trials and the operational applications of the robots will be conducted within Autagco's facilities to validate safety, effectiveness under medical regulations and functional capabilities in elderly care environments, including companionship, rehabilitation assistance, health monitoring and cognitive interaction.

Ms. Zhao Xin, Executive Director and CEO of AJJ Medtech, said, "We are pleased to enter into this strategic MOU with Autagco for the clinical trials, which marks the next phase in the development and operation of the humanoid robot. We will capitalise on our expertise in digital healthcare, product know-how and understanding of Singapore's healthcare and regulatory requirements to bring this collaboration forward."

Under the terms of the MOU, AJJ Medtech will be responsible for, inter alia, providing robot hardware and technology, managing clinical trial compliance applications, as well as obtaining regulatory approvals (including registration with Health Sciences Authority).

Autagco will be responsible for, inter alia, providing its assisted living facilities for the clinical trials and deployment of the humanoid robots, facilitating staff training and operational integration, and supporting commercialisation within its facilities.

Mr. Ng Boon Hui, Executive Chairman and CEO of Autagco, added, “The strategic cooperation with AJJ Medtech will elevate Autagco’s level of care services, transforming our service delivery model for our assisted living clients. We are excited to work with AJJ Medtech to bring this collaboration into fruition.”

Both AJJ Medtech and Autagco will share necessary resources, liaise with relevant local and international medical and elderly care institution, and ensure compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.

In the long run, the collaboration aims to fully integrate AI-powered humanoid robots into the real-world eldercare scenarios at all Autagco’s assisted living facilities. The clinical trials and deployment within the facilities seek to accelerate product validation, regulatory compliance and operational readiness of the multifunctional humanoid robot. The MOU is valid for 36 months and may be renewed upon mutual agreement.
